Background and Rationale

- Families stay in shelter 3x longer than single adults (Segaert, 2012)
- 90% of homeless families are head by woman (Robrecht & Anderson, 2006)
- Women experiencing homelessness have high rates of;
 - post-traumatic stress disorder (Bassuk, Volk, & Oliver, 2010)
 - mental health issues (Bassuk, Volk, & Oliver, 2010)
 - sexual exploitation, violence, and assault (Paradis & Mosher, 2012).

PERCENTAGE OF CANADIAN FAMILIES EXPERIENCING UNSTABLE HOUSING

Background and Rationale

- Indigenous people = 3% of Calgary's population
- Women experiencing homelessness = 34% Indigenous (Calgary Homeless Foundation, 2014)
- Families accessing shelter services = 50% Indigenous (Inn from the Cold, 2018)
- Housing First housing solution often targeted towards white, single men in their 40's (Goerning, 2014)

Research Aims and Objectives

Aims:

To better the housing and wrap-around supports to be culturally considerate for Indigenous families experiencing homelessness

Objectives

1. To understand and analyze Indigenous families' experience of homelessness as being rooted in their gendered and cultural trauma;
2. Develop recommendations for policy makers on how to best adapt the Housing First model to be reflective and inclusive of Indigenous women's experience.

Methodology

- Relationship building
 - Aboriginal Standing Committee on Housing and Homelessness (ASCHH)
 - Elder engagement and leadership
 - Interviews:
 - 12 women, 1-2 hours over a meal
 - Individual and group
 - Elders present
 - Children attended
- Thematic and Policy Analysis

Structural Violence

Jurisdiction

“[If] you go to your First Nations band they tell you, ‘you’re living off the reserve. We can only help people that are living on reserve,’ and you go to the people off reserve they say, ‘go to your band.’”

- Underfunding nationally for on reserve housing & services
- Frustration with feeling passed off between organizations
- Limited coordination with clients to explain supports

Racism

Interpersonal racism primarily displayed by:

- Landlords
- Employers
- Housing Services

“[The landlord said,] if I go out there, no one’s going to help me because I’m native. I’ve seen it and witnessed it off hand, trying to get my own place here.”

“No one would rent to us because of four kids or profiling my sons because they are boys and you know, like gang affiliated and stuff.”

Safety

“I hate living there because we have to keep the blinds closed all the time. It feels so dark, cause it’s a basement suite, but I feel like he’s spying on us. Like it’s not just me. I have girls.”

“I feel like I’m just settling again because I want to get out of there.”

- Unsafe in relationships
- Unsafe in homes: Abuse from landlords
 - Physically unsafe
 - Unclean
 - Threat of violence
 - Financial abuse
 - Women ill equipped to fight violations.
 - Not informed on “Tenancies Act” violations
 - Forced to settle.

Family

- Indigenous conceptions of family not considered in housing
- Threat of child apprehension from CPS
 - Grandparents take care of children while already financially insecure

“I need a home for my granddaughter, I’m not gonna lose her. I can’t give her up and I can’t lose this home [for her]. Nobody can take care of her but her mom ... I don’t sleep sometimes because I’m so worried about so many things.”

Trauma

- Limited trauma informed support for extended family
 - Heavy reliance on women for support
- Retraumatized by system
 - Retelling of story
 - SPDAT

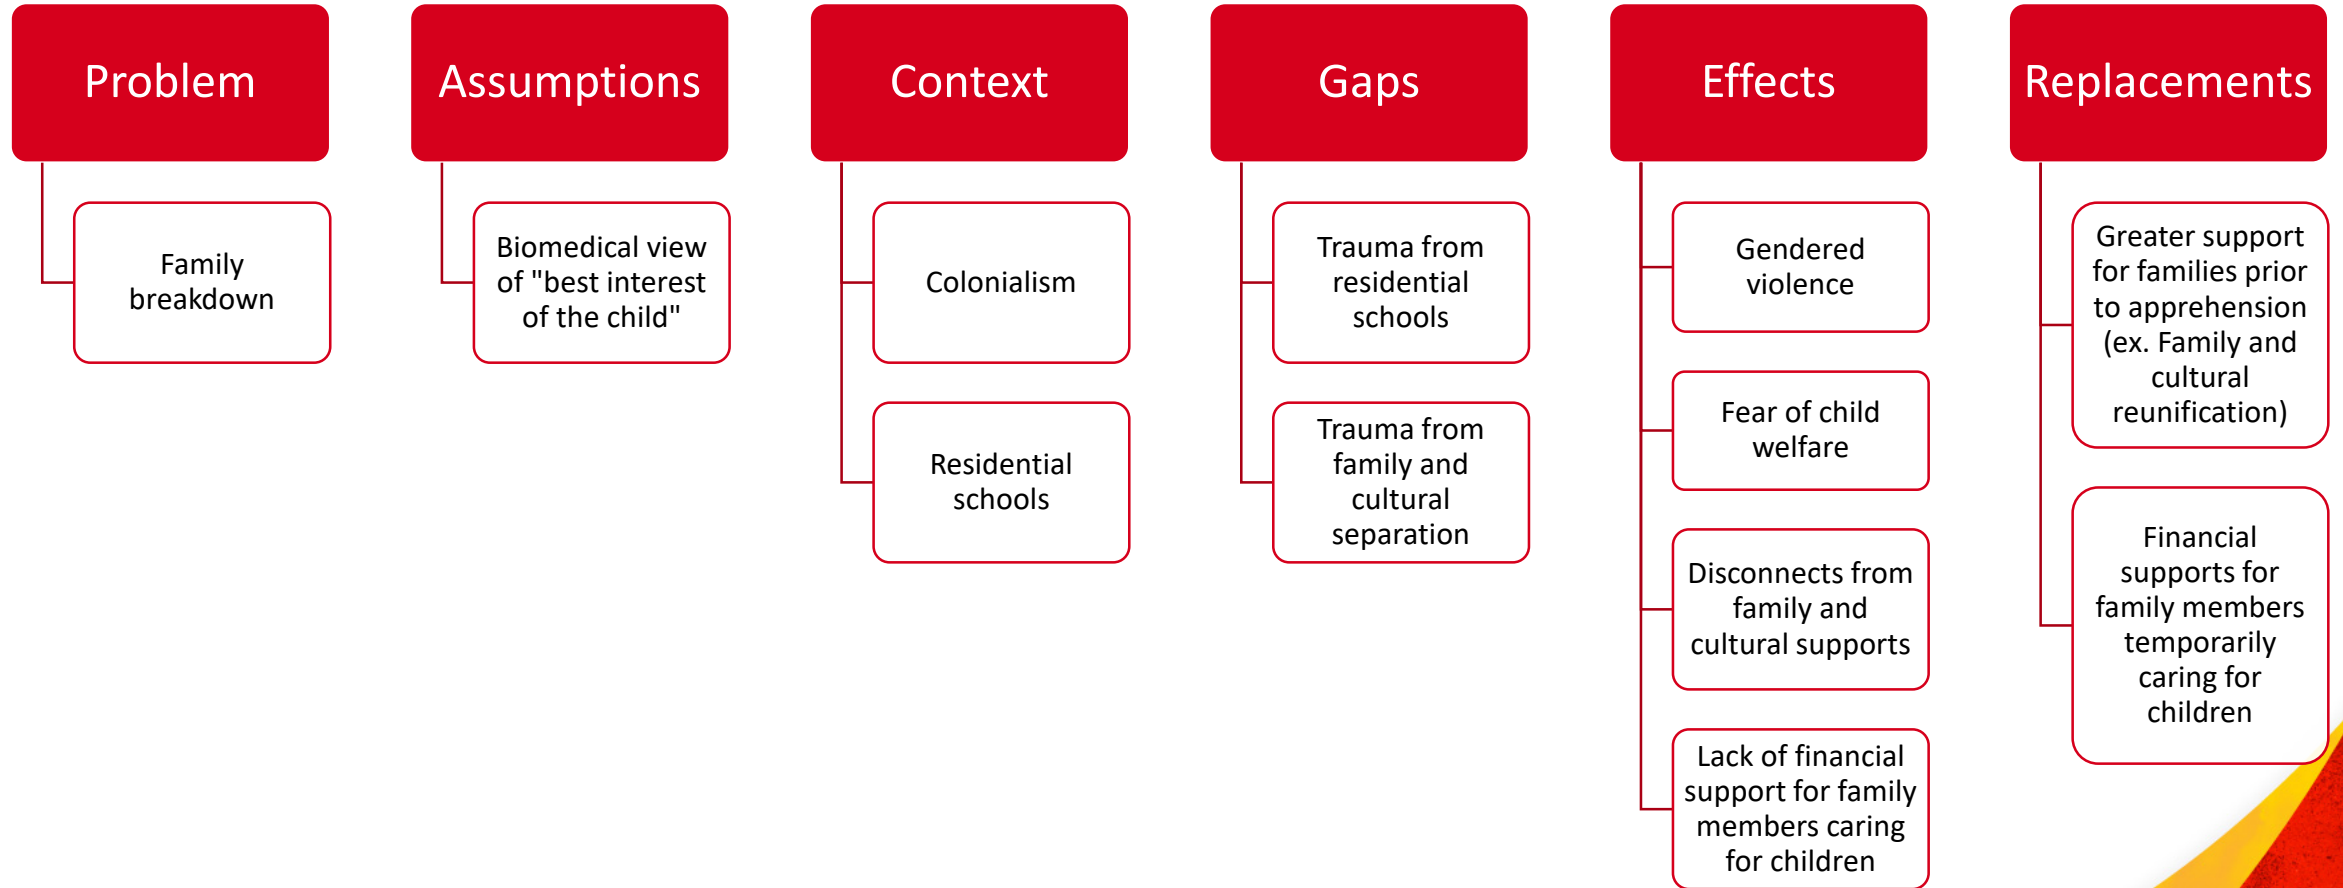

Trauma cont...

- “Losing my mother really young, I kind of had to grow up and be a parent for my brothers, so I always had that where I felt like I prefer to my brothers succeed rather than me.”
- “I have to tell myself, okay [...] ‘you can't keep hurting yourself like this anymore, you can't keep letting people treat you like this or you know walk all over you.’ ... My mom was like that, and I swore I would never be like my mother. But guess what? Even my husband tells me, that's what killed your mom and it's gonna kill you too!”

3. Improve support for families prior to child apprehension;
4. Re-evaluate vulnerability assessments.
